

Canadian Club Luncheon Update

It's with pleasure to inform you, as those of you who attended will attest, that our first luncheon at the Grand Pacific Hotel was a delightful, delicious, and most interesting event. The Grand Pacific Hotel has just proven it can provide a venue that we can all enjoy for a luncheon. This, however, comes at a price increase.

Having surveyed you last year on this matter of the luncheon cost, you indicated a very positive willingness that an increase would be acceptable. These days, increases are unavoidable, and necessary to provide a Canadian Club experience going forward. The good news is that our annual membership dues remain unchanged.

I know several members were regrettably disappointed in not being early enough to purchase a ticket to attend the very popular, sold-out September event with guest speaker Bob McDonald. To avoid another disappointment, I'm alerting all our members not to hesitate to purchase your ticket on Eventbrite when you receive the October 19 invitation in the next days. If you require help don't hesitate to contact me.

I extend my very best wishes and look forward to seeing you very soon.
